Brand New Book  Print on Demand .From the skyscrapers of the Upper East Side of Manhattan to a mud hut set against the timeless sands of Egypt, Racing the Setting Sun is the tale of a woman who finds the courage to leave an unhappy marriage. In Egypt, the author discovers the beauty of a land of which she always dreamed and an awakened sexuality with Salah, her young guide. The author calls the primitive village on the Nile from which the guide hails, home. There she finds a deep-rooted love for his family. She experiences the often disturbing treatment of women in another culture. An astonishing story of magic and beauty, Racing the Setting Sun speaks to two hemispheres, to all women and all men. I lived high up in the mountains near the Pharonic noble tombs, with a people whose lives had not changed in eons. I felt I was living a page out of the Bible; homes lacked running water, and donkeys had to haul the precious cargo up from the distant wells of the Nile delta to dry, parched mountains the color of ripe wheat. Yet even the primitive living conditions did not deter me. Because of Sallah, the young man I met, I shared in the villagers joys, sorrows and traditions-from the celebration of life and their strange birthing methods, to their unusual marriage customs and the male sexual ritual afterwards. I replaced a modern life filled with material trappings and a painful marriage of thirty-four years with a life filled with love and awakening. Each day was a gift, filled with wonderment and awe. I slept on a roof blanketed by tender love and a brilliant night sky,...
